Early autumn styles are shown in bewildering array, the French houses of Wielle, Virot, Paquin and metropolitan designers being liberally represented, and, as usual, Diane De Bois contributes enough suggestions for the home dressmaker to keep her thoroughly in touch with all the latest fabrics and trimmings.

A variety of short articles for various members of the family, and the usual departments of Wit and Humor, Best Stories, Graphology, Physiognomy and Horoscope complete the number.

DAY OF RECKONING.

Perpetrators of the Versailles Outrage in Danger.

Friends of the Dead Men Declare Vengeance

Upon the Men Responsible for the Slaughter.

Will See That Every Guilty Man is Brought to the Bar of Justice.

VERSAILLES, Ind., Sept. 16.—The people in Versailles are still dazed more than ever by the horror of the bloody work of Tuesday. No other topic is discussed, except speculation as to the probability of action being taken to arrest and punish the participants in the mob.

All agree that the plan was deliberately laid. It is said by witnesses that from the time the two signal rockets were sent up on the outskirts of the town until the work of the mob was completed and the men were going home was not more than fifteen minutes. It is also said that the active participants in the lynching did not exceed fifteen or twenty, though the men who were present as guards and helpers numbered about 250.

It is generally conceded the organizers were Osgood men, though so far no one can be found who recognizes any of them. The apprehension that further work is intended by the organization still continues and the luckless man who gets into the Versailles jail will have reason to regret the consequences. This feeling may have a tendency to cause some of the suspected men to leave the country.

Peter Hostetter, who gave the information to the sheriff about the burglary at Correct, has taken alarm at threats by friends of the victims and has disappeared.

AN AWFUL RECKONING.

OSGOOD, Ind., Sept. 16.—There will be an awful reckoning for the slaughter of the five men in the Versailles jail. All the victims have many relatives and friends who have determined that somebody must suffer for the wholesale lynching. Everybody here feels that more blood will be shed. The feeling is that the mob acted hastily as to Levi and Jenkins. The only testimony against these was Hostetter's statement, that they were involved in the Wordy burglary. The inquest was resumed today. Many witnesses were called but not one could identify any one connected with the mob. Circuit Judge New says that every possible effort will be made by the authorities to punish the mob participants.

WILD WOMEN

Make Great Trouble for Miners at Hazleton.

Armed With Clubs and Like Weapons, They Invade the Washeries and Force Men to Quit Work.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 16.—Two hundred and fifty women made more trouble this morning than the ten thousand striking miners have caused since last Friday's shooting. They were the foreign women of the McAdoo and Audenried district. Armed with clubs, rolling pins, pokers and any weapons they could find, they invaded the washeries which have hitherto been working and forced the men, about 300 in number, to quit work. As the men were husbands, sons or brothers of the women in most instances they made no resistance, although this is the first successful movement to get them out. In every other part of the region quiet prevailed. The strike may now be said to be general, as there is not a colliery of importance in operation.

A VERY PECULIAR STRIKE.

HAZLETON, Sept. 16.—Originating, as it did in the petty disagreement between the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company mule drivers and their employers, and having spread until it now affects nearly 10,000 men and most of the principal operators of the middle coal fields, this strike has been one of the most peculiar ever inaugurated in the region. The miners have no organization. In many instances they do not know exactly for what they struck, except that they feel that they have been unfairly treated, and that they want more pay. In fifty per cent of the idle collieries they are at a loss to say how much they want, and in such cases they have quit work without even asking for an increase.

OUT OF PRISON.

Captain Murphy, the Filibusterer, Returns to Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 16.—Captain Edward Murphy, who was the commander of the steamers Bermuda and Laurada during the period when they gained great notoriety for alleged filibustering expeditions to Cuba, has arrived here direct from Port Antonio, on the steamer Barnstable. Captain Murphy had ended thirty days in a Jamaica prison for non compliance with the customs regulations at that port, while commander of the Laurada.

In an interview Captain Murphy confirms what has already been given regarding the disposition of the Bermuda by seizure and confiscation and the shipping of the crew back to the United States. He further says: "My great desire at present is to see Cuba gain her liberty and cut away from the shackles binding her to Spain. It is the height of my ambition to take another party to the shores of Cuba, and if my plans mature, probably in the course of the next few weeks I shall again see the Cuban shore."

RETURN TO WORK.

Miners' Long Period of Idleness is Broken.

Eighteen Thousand Men in the Pittsburg District Resume Their Usual Occupation.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 16.—After nearly three months idleness, between 15,000 and 18,000 coal miners in the Pittsburg district returned to work today in accordance with the action taken at yesterday's convention, authorizing the men to resume work in all mines complying with the provisions of the scale of sixty-five cents adopted at Columbus. The remainder of the 23,000 miners of the district will be at work before the close of the week. It is estimated that the strike which lasted sixty five working days, cost the people of the Pittsburg district from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000.

Of this amount the miners lost about $2,250,000 in wages. The strike against the DeArmitts will continue indefinitely, arrangements having been made to assess the working miners 5 per cent. of their wages to defray the expenses of keeping up the fight until the sixty-five cent rate is made uniform throughout the district.

ON CRUTCHES

Does Adolph Leutgert Enter the Court.

Fell in the Corridor of His Jail and Sprained His Leg—Progress of the Trial.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Adolph L. Leutgert limped into the court room today, leaning heavily upon a crutch. The big prisoner in tramping through the jail corridor had slipped and so severely sprained his leg that walking was very painful. The trial was not resumed until considerably later than usual. Despite the injury the accused sausage maker appeared to be in good spirits and chatted pleasantly with his son, Arnold. Prof. George Dorsey, of the Field-Columbian museum, was recalled to the witness stand to make a correction in the startling testimony he gave yesterday. Professor Dorsey said that yesterday he had said that the female femur bone which he had identified was from the left leg. He desired to correct that. The bone, the professor said, was from the right leg. The witness explained that when he first examined the bone he was under the impression that it came from the left leg. Yesterday, during the time he was on the witness stand, he had forgotten the latter discovery and said left side when he meant right side.

Attorney Vincent announced that he would require an entire day to cross examine Professor Dorsey. But first he desired to briefly cross-examine Dr. Norval Pierce, who had identified a piece of bone as the left temporal bone of a female skull.

Then the cross-examination of Professor Dorsey began. Attorney Vincent tried in vain for over an hour to break the force of the professor's indentification of the femur, questioning him sharply as to the difference between the femur of a male and that of a female, but the professor remained steadfast to the belief expressed in former examinations.

FAVOR FREE SILVER.

Illinois Federation Puts Their Plank in Its Platform.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 16.—The Illinois Federation of Labor in annual convention in this city placed itself on record as favoring the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. The minority report of the committee on platform presented the clause favoring free coinage and after debate the convention ordered in inserted in the platform.

The day was a busy one and a large amount of important business to labor interests was transacted. Resolutions were introduced treating upon nearly every issue known to the field of labor. The resolution introduced by T. J. O'Brien, of Chicago, referring to the outrage at Hazleton, Pa., created a storm of discussion. The conservative element is in the majority and the radicals were voted down.

YELLOW JACK

Almost Depopulates a Southern City.

Not by Assailing and Destroying Citizens,

But by Scaring Them Into Flight.

The Situation in New Orleans and Edwards Remains Unchanged and Quarantine is Maintained in Certain Quarters.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 16.—No more people are leaving the city, for two reasons—there are very few left here, and none can get out on account of the rigid quarantine thrown around the town. Business is dead. The town having gotten rid of these excitable persons, to the number of several thousand, the chances of those remaining are correspondingly decreased should trouble occur and the people are therefore feeling easier.

Hon. J. L. Redack, mayor of Edwards, telegraphed the Associated Press at 10 a. m. as follows: "There are eight cases of yellow fever in the town and three in the country. No deaths. All the patients are doing well."

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16.—The sanitary inspectors and experts of the board of health got to work at 7 o'clock this morning and proceeded with the investigation of the cases left over from yesterday. Reports of additional suspected cases are slowly trickling into the office. At 10 o'clock nothing had reached the board of health to warrant the fear that there has been any material change in the situation. There are no new cases this morning and nothing alarming has come from the homes of the patients who are ill. Present indications point to no immediate deaths. If, however, a death shall occur, there is little doubt that the experts will hold autopsies to convince the public.

There is no doubt in the minds of any of the local physicians that the eighteen local cases reported are genuine yellow fever. It is not malignant now because it had not time enough to breed here and if it is stamped out now there is no reason to believe that it will reappear next year. Some inquiry has been made as to whether the present scare will have the effect of interfering with the winter race meeting. Officials of the club say that they are going right ahead with their preparations for the opening. They feel that there will be absolutely no danger of fever existing when the date of meeting arrives.

ANOTHER CASE.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16.—At 11 o'clock today the board of health officially declared the suspicious case of fever of St. Andrew street, between Camp and Chestnut, yellow fever. It has been under observation for several days. The patient is a butcher. This makes a total of nineteen cases to date.

A telegram from Biloxi says that an Italian has died in the heart of the city, apparently of yellow fever. An autopsy will be held and all the physicians now in Biloxi will be invited to be present to determine the character of the sickness from which the man died.

LOSSES ARE HEAVY.

North Manchester Damaged $60,000 by a Great Conflagration.

WABASH, Ind., Sept. 16.—Dunbar & Matthew's stave and heading works, Noftsger & Son's foundry, Ulrey & Harter's woodworking establishment, Roby & Straus' pool rack factory, and several minor buildings were destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon at North Manchester. The loss is $60,000, insured for only one-fifth that amount.

The blaze started in the dry kiln of the Dunbar factory and the mill, with hundreds of thousands of feet of lumber in the yard, dry as tinder, were soon aflame. Noftsger's foundry went next, and then the Ulrey & Harter and the Roby establishments took fire, the heavy wind balking the efforts of the local fire department to check the flames.

Aid was asked of this city, and the Wabash department went over on a special train and assisted in getting the fire under control. The losses are: Dunbar & Matthews, $35,000; Noftsger & Sons, $15,000; Ulrey & Harter, $3,000; Roby & Straus, $1,000; Mills & Bonner, $1,000; Big Four railroad, car of clover seed burned, $2,000; Wabash railway transfer house, $3,000.

GORDON SUSTAINED.

Judge Jenkins Decides in Favor of the Chicago Postmaster.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—In the federal court today Judge Jenkins sustained Postmaster Gordon in his removal of Superintendent Carr, of the Englewood branch of the postoffice, known as Station O, and dissolved the injunction secured by Carr. Judge Jenkins took a similar position to that of Judge Cox, of the District of Columbia, in the Wood case, which was decided a day or two ago.

Died From a Fly Bite.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 16.—Charles Elser, a prominent citizen, died yesterday, the result of a fly biting his tongue some time since.

Laundry Men Meet.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 16.—The most significant act of the National Laundrymen's association at yesterday's session was the laying on the table certain resolutions looking for a boycott of the Chinese laundries. The report of the committee on revision of the by-laws, recommending no change whatever, was adopted.

BRYAN SPEAKS.

He Deprecates the Wild Talk of Agitators.

Legislation is the Just and Satisfactory Remedy for the Troubles of Labor and Capital.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 16.—William J. Bryan spoke to nearly 25,000 people at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, twelve excursion trains bringing visitors from surrounding towns. In an interview before he started for the grounds Mr. Bryan said, among other things:

"Those who have suggested the burning of property or the destruction of life as a means of settling labor disputes do not understand the genius of our institutions. The American people are a lawabiding people. When laws are bad they will change the laws. Lincoln was right when he said that no one could better be entrusted with the enforcement of the laws than those who toil. The toilers will respect the rights of property and the people as a whole will insist that the corporations shall also respect the right to life and liberty.

"The injunction has been called in to aid in the suppression of strikers and since the strike is at present the only weapon of employes the injunction becomes the most useful means by which the employers can force their own terms on employes. Legislation and legislation alone can remedy this evil. Arbitration secured by law, the elimination by law of government by injunction will secure the only just and satisfactory remedy for the growing troubles between labor and capital."

COLLISION!

A Passenger Train and a Freight Meet.

Two Men, a Postal Clerk and a Fireman, Instantly Killed and Two Tramps Injured.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 16.—Wabash passenger train No. 13, which left here a 9 o'clock last night, and a freight train which left Kansas City at 1:45 p. m. yesterday came together in a head collision at a switch in Keyvilles, Mo., this morning. William Gaines, a postal clerk, of St. Louis, and W. B. Smith, fireman of the freight, were killed, and William Clark and Paul Street, two tramps were severely injured.

SAYS HE LIED.

Barney Repudiates His Confession in the Hinshaw Case.

DANVILLE, Ind., Sept. 16.—Noah Barney and Guy VanTassel appeared before the grand jury yesterday. VanTassel said he knew nothing of the murder of Mrs. Hinshaw. Barney told the story of his confession. He said it was a lie, but justified it on the ground that he was in bad health and believed it would help him to get out of prison. The testimony of Barney is regarded as having ended the investigation, and with it the hope of Hinshaw's friends of securing any tangible benefit from it.

ONE OF THE LAST.

Entertainments at Robison Park Will Shortly Close—Concert Tomorrow.

The concert at Robison park tomorrow night will be given as usual by the First Regiment band, and an excellent and pleasing program has been prepared. After the concert, which will conclude at 9 o'clock, a dance will be given in the big pavilion until 10.30. The season is nearly over and once this present hot wave has passed it will close very abruptly.

TWO FIRES.

Department Makes Two Runs This Morning—Little Damage Done.

At 12:27 this forenoon the fire department was summoned to 52 Ferguson street. It was a chimney blaze and the damage was nothing.

A few minutes later a run was made to No. 2 Fisher street, near the Bowser factory, where the house of Timothy Lansky was ablaze. The roof was damaged slightly before the fire was extinguished.

OUT FOR LIQUOR MEN.

Nicholson Law Violators in Lake County to be Indicted.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Sept. 16.—It is believed that nearly every saloonkeeper in Lake county who has in any way violated the Nicholson law will be indicted by the grand jury, which is now in session.

From ten to twenty-five men and boys from Hammond, Lowell, Cedar Lake, East Chicago and other towns have appeared daily before the jury, which will continue in session for a week or more.

From fifty to 100 liquor sellers will no doubt be indicted when the jury adjourns.

Spectacles scientifically fitted by Dallas F. Green, expert optician, No. 3 Arcade.

The bicyclists have employed Judge Allen Zollars and W. C. Ryan as attorneys to render an opinion on the constitutionality of the vehicle tax. They will also make a test case.

AT THE MONUMENT.

Soldiers Re-dedicate the Shaft at North Side Park.

Interesting Ceremonies and a Large Assemblage—The Program Stopped by the Bursting of the Storm.

History repeated itself today and in a manner that was violence multiplied. On the 10th of October, 1894, when the soldiers' monument at North Side park was unveiled a downpour of rain marred the ceremonies and necessitated curtailment of the program. This morning, when the ceremonies of re-dedication were about half completed, a storm of wind and rain which sprang with sudden fury out of the west, put a stop to the exercises, dispersed the assembled thousands and drove them to such shelter as the vicinity afforded.

The day dawned clear and fierce sultriness brooded in the atmosphere. All signs augured at least fair, even if hot, weather for the interesting exercises at North Side park. Early the down town center took on a holiday appearance from the unusual number of people who thronged the streets. A large part of these were visitors, soldiers and their friends who had come to attend the reunions of the Eighty-eighth regiment and the Eleventh battery, and to participate in the unveiling of the monument. The members of the two organizations assembled at the Arcade and the Grand Army posts, the Union Veteran legion, the military and the other organizations participating met at their respective headquarters. It was nearly 10 o'clock when the parade was formed and began to move. A platoon of police was in the van, after which came Grand Marshal Robson and staff. The Fort Wayne City band then came leading the first division, composed of the Fort Wayne Rifles, the Wayne True Blues, the Hibernian Rifles, the Fort Wayne Grays, and the Zollinger battery. The Wayne Tent band led the next division, comprising the Grand Army posts, the Union Veteran legion, and invited guests in carriages, with guard of honor from the Sons of Veterans. The First A. O. U. W. band headed the next division, comprised of the members of the Eighty-eighth regiment, the Eleventh battery, and members of civic societies.

The line of march was through the down town streets, as published, and out Clinton street to the park, approaching the monument site from the west. Col. C. E. Briant and Capt. A. H. Dougall, adjutant, rode at the head of their old boys of the Eighty-eighth.

A large concourse of spectators, many of whom were veterans, had arrived at the scene of the ceremonies before the procession, so that when the parade disbanded the grounds around the monument held a vast crowd. The monument was draped beneath the folds of a large American flag and ready for the ceremony of rededication and a new unveiling. A short distance to the southwest of the monument a large stand had been erected for the speakers and around this the crowd gathered.

Capt. H. W. Dickman, of the Union Veteran Legion, called the assembly to order and presented Rev. H. W. Bennett D. D., pastor of the Wayne Street M. E. church, who fervently and eloquently invoked the divine blessing. "America" was on the program to be sung by the assembly and Capt. Dickman called for someone to lead. After a short time had elapsed and no vocal leader appeared, Hon. R. C. Bell stepped quickly forward and led the singing and he did it well, while the big crowd joined in the national hymn with hearty will.

Mayor H. P. Scherer was then presented and he delivered an address welcoming the veterans of the Eighty-eight regiment and the Eleventh battery to Fort Wayne. Mayor Scherer paid a lofty and eloquent tribute to the valor and patriotism of the soldiers of the union armies, especially to those who had gone to the front from Allen county. He spoke of the inspiring lessons the monument stood for and of the forceful memories of which the cannon silently spoke. He concluded his address by renewing his welcome of the veterans to the city, extended them its absolute freedom and assured them that without fear he committed it to their charge. The mayor was heartily applauded.

At the conclusion of Mayor Scherer's address, Gen. James S. Dodge, commander of the G. A. R. department of Indiana was introduced and was given a warm greeting by the veterans. General Dodge said he was glad to meet the ex-soldiers, and especially upon such an occasion. General Dodge reviewed the part performed by the union soldiers in preserving the integrity of the nation, spoke of their valor, their devotion to the cause for which they fought and of the marvelous spectacle they presented to the world when nearly 2,000,000 of them put aside their arms, "literally beat their swords into plowshares," and returned without disorder to the peaceful pursuits they had left when the call to arms had come. Putting down the burden of battle they had taken up the duties of citizenship and the world had never beheld a citizenship of loftier purpose and greater patriotism than that exhibited by the soldiers who had preserved the union. General Dodge went on to say that in this country the people had no burdens which the intelligent and patriotic exercise of their rights could not remedy and he believed that to no other means would the people appeal. He protested against the term "old soldier" as applied to the veterans of the late war and said it should apply to followers of the profession of arms as a livelihood and could not apply to the patriotic men who faced war for their country's sake. He repudiated the imputation sometimes cast that men had gone to the front to court death for the trifling compensation paid for service. It was patriotism, love of country, love of home that moved them. The men of the union armies had manifested their courage and incorruptible patriotism too often to permit question of it. He commended the purposes of the monument to be dedicated and appealed to the young who heard him to learn the lessons which the monument was reared to teach. Great applause followed General Dodge's speech.

Hon. R. C. Bell was next on the program, but he good humoredly informed the assembly that he was not going to make a speech; that a storm was near at hand. In a few words, however, he brought those who heard him to fully appreciate the men and the deeds the monument stood to commemorate. Just as Major Bell concluded the storm broke with fury over the city and its roar as it leaped toward the park was ominous of danger. The crowd dispersed in great haste to find shelter, and many were caught in the very height of the storm in the park, across which they had started to reach the city.

The remainder of the program had to be dispensed with. Speeches by Hon. J. M. Robinson, and Rev. D. B. Keller, chaplain of the Eighty-eighth regiment, were to have been delivered had the storm not interfered and interesting ceremonies of unveiling were to have taken place.

Barring the storm and the extreme heat, the occasion was most enjoyable to citizens and visitors and especially to veterans and it is a matter of wide regret that the elements interfered.

HISTORY OF THE MONUMENT.

The beautiful monument which stands at the Spy Run avenue entrance to North Side park to the memory of the soldier heroes of Allen county, was the gift to the city of the Messrs. Charles F. and Louis A. Centlivre, John B. Reuss and other citizens. The donors believed that a city and county which bore so distinguished a part in maintaining the integrity of the union should not be without a monument to commemorate the deeds of patriot citizens. In this spirit, therefore, efforts were set afoot more than three years ago to have such a monument placed in North Side park. The gentlemen named in the foregoing contributed most liberally to the worthy project and it was due mainly to their efforts that the monument was possible.

Accordingly the monument with its striking features was placed in position, and the occasion of the reunion of the gallant Eighty-eighth regiment, held in this city October 10, 1894, was regarded as the most fitting and auspicious time for unveiling it. The regiment was invited to conduct the ceremonies of unveiling, and the invitation was accepted. In the afternoon of the day named the regiment was formed in line with Col. Cyrus E. Briant commanding, Capt. Allen H. Dougall, Adjutant and Captain Fred F. Boltz, officer of the day. They were accompanied by the city posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Sons of Veterans, and Woman's Relief corps. The band from the State Home for Feeble Minded led the procession with music, and local companies of the National Guard of Indiana furnished escort. The procession was a large one and of notable character, and the concourse of people present to witness the interesting ceremonies was indeed vast.

At the monument Rev. D. B. Keller, late quartermaster of the regiment offered prayer. He was followed by Mr. Anthony Kelker, of the city council's committee on parks, who presented the monument to the city, on behalf of which Mayor C. B. Oakley accepted it. Hon. R. C. Bell, for the donors, then presented it to the old soldiers, and Col. C. E. Briant accepted in the name of the soldiers of Allen county. These ceremonies being over, at a signal of one gun fired by the Zollinger battery, Miss Winifred J. Dougall and Miss Ida Kiesley, daughters of survivors of the Eighty-eight, drew aside the large flag whose folds had draped the monument, and the splendid and inspiring work in bronze stood revealed while the soldiers cheered again and again and the vast crowd broke forth in applause. Captain C. F. Hettler then accepted the monument in behalf of the German veterans of Allen county.

These ceremonies were followed by an able and patriotic and historical address by Col. I. N. Walker, late grand commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

This is the history of the monument until a few months ago, when Capt. Harry W. Dickman and other members of the Union Veteran legion began to make efforts to get the war department to furnish cannon for the proper embellishment of the monument site. The two

WIND IN A FURY.

Fort Wayne Gets a Bad Shaking Up.

Great Damage Done in Today's Storm.

Roofs Blown Off, Trees Leveled to the Earth

And Serious Results of the Cyclone in All Parts of the City—Three Men Injured by Falling Chimneys.

A storm, cyclone in its nature, struck Fort Wayne amidships shortly before the noon hour today, and made things rattle at such a rate as to set the oldest inhabitant to thinking when in the dim past such another "scorcher" had honored this city with a visit. The storm burst upon the unsuspecting population without a warning, and being unprepared to meet it many were exposed to the fury of the elements in open places, this being more in evidence at the monument dedication exercises, perhaps, than anywhere else. Roofs were blown off, trees leveled by the hundreds, awnings torn into shreds, smoke stacks laid low, telephone and telegraph wires wrecked and innumerable accidents caused in all parts of the city. The amount of damage inflicted by the storm, so far as can be learned up to the hour THE SENTINEL goes to press, is as follows:

CHIMNEYS DOWN—MEN INJURED.

Three tall chimneys at the Olds Wagon works were carried down by the force of the wind and with them went a section of the roof about twenty by thirty feet in dimensions. The mass of brick, mortar and splintered timber and boards fell upon two men and a boy who were at work at the forges beneath. All were injured and one of them, George Kruckenberger, so badly that grave fears are entertained for his recovery. He sustained a severe scalp wound and there are bruises on the back and other symptoms that the spine is affected in such a manner as to prove fatal.

The other unfortunates were Andrew Antoebel, a blacksmith, who was cut and bruised about the head and shoulders. His left hand was also most painfully bruised and possibly some of the bones were slightly fractured. Fritz Ware, Mr. Antoebel's helper, a lad about fifteen years old, was cut on the back of the head by the brick and his shoulders were painfully bruised, though his injuries are not serious.

The blacksmith shop is a long one story brick, extending south from the main building. It contains eighteen or twenty forges and from each of these is a high and slender brick chimney, which extends above the roof fifteen or twenty feet. These chimneys have withstood the storms of the past twelve years and were considered perfectly safe. A foreman of the works said that the remainder of these chimneys would be immediately taken down and light sheet steel smoke stacks erected in their place.

OTHER DAMAGE.

A new house on North street, in Bloomingdale, near the Muncie tracks, was lifted from the foundation and turned almost sideways. The building was not quite completed, the painters being at work when the storm came.

A new unfinished barn belonging to Mr. Yarian, of Sixth street, was blown over.

A portion of the roof at Bruck's Bloomingdale flouring mill was torn off and operations were temporarily suspended at the mill this afternoon in consequence.

A tin roof was torn off the building at the corner of Superior and Harrison streets, occupied by Fremion & Vollmer, the bottlers, and other tenants. The huge roll of tin fell upon the wires stretched alongside the building, crippling the telephone service of the Central Union company.

A large tree fell against the building at the corner of Main and Ewing streets, occupied by Gebhart, the meat dealer. A large plate glass window was broken.

A large tree fell across the street at the intersection of Wayne and Griffith streets, impeding traffic.

A portion of Fletcher's livery stable, on Barr street, was ruined, and the roof of William Doehrman's grocery, adjoining, was seriously damaged.

Fancy scroll work was wrenched from the Spy Run avenue bridge.

The roof of the Fleming manufactory, on High street, was badly damaged, a portion of it being torn completely off.

A portion of the large sign which almost covered the Bankrupt store was wrecked.

Awnings were torn off at the Fort House, the D. N. Foster furniture store and scores of other business houses.

A tree fell across the Wabash tracks at Taylor street, and a force of men was dispatched to the scene quickly to clear away the obstruction.

The roof of G. E. Bursley & Co's wholesale house was damaged.

A portion of the roof of the Seavey hardware store was blown off.

The wind caused a great mix up at the south depot. A mail wagon was captured and carried along the pavement for a distance of fifty feet. Two children, a boy and a girl, were carried down the tracks about the same distance and when the girl was picked up she was unconscious, but not seriously hurt.

The ornamental netting, five feet high, which extends on the top of the West Main street Arcade building, was torn from its fastenings and it will entail considerable expense to repair it.

A show case in front of Dreier's drug store was hurled into the street and broken.

The roof was partly taken off of Weldner's livery barn.

A tree blew down at the corner of Chicago and Harrison streets and struck a woman, injuring her slightly. Her name could not be learned.

Three tons of hay were turned over at the Clinton street hay market.

WIRES DOWN.

Wires are down in all parts of the city, for the time being, causing much inconvenience to patrons of the telephone companies. The fire lines and the patrol wires are in bad shape and City Electrician Schroeder is out with a force of repairers.

STREET CARS STOP.

Owing to numerous obstructions across the street railway tracks in different parts of the city the engines at the central station were stopped as a safeguard to prevent possible accidents. The service was at a standstill for over an hour at the time of day when street cars are in most demand. Superintendent Stanton sent out details over all lines to clear away the obstructions. In some places good sized trees blocked the street and track and it was no easy task to remove them.

MANY TREES.

Hundreds, probably thousands, of beautiful shade trees were swept down before the storm, this being, perhaps the most irreparable damage recorded today. Shade trees are every property owners' pet and few own them who do not place a good value on them. Some of these trees were of many years growth. Trees are something that cannot be replaced in their original beauty and use without years of patient waiting. More talk was heard of this lamentable feature of the storm than any other, so far as it concerned the damage to property.

Mr. Eggeman, president of the board of works, stated that the contracts would very likely be let tonight and that the work would go ahead immediately.

MISMATED COUPLES.

Two of Them Set Free by Divorce Today.

The Grand Jury Likely to Conclude Its Labors Today—The News of the Courts.

This morning in the circuit court Judge O'Rourke granted to Margaret Smith a decree divorcing her from Joseph B. Smith. Desertion and failure to support constituted the grounds.

In the superior court Judge Dawson granted a decree divorcing Margaret Cogshell from David B. Cogshell. Desertion was the ground of complaint.

In the superior court W. T. Ferguson has sued George Sell on account for $120.

The heavy gold exports promised from Europe are considerably overdue.

A LOT of old towns are having a hot time seven nights per week in this latitude.

WITH plenty of time and a little more room Dr. Andrews will locate himself and know where he's at.

TOM PLATT evidently proposes to wait until after the election in Greater New York to make up his mind what he is going to do about it.

INDIANA owes an apology for many severe things spoken of Ohio. The Buckeye state has never, according to the records, haltered five men in one night and that for the crime of mere theft.

NOW AND THEN the north teaches the south a lesson on the utter uncleanness of a mob. The absence of any sufficient cause to provoke widespread and uncontrollable public anger makes the Versailles lynching much worse than any that has occurred recently in the south.

IT is greatly to be hoped that the government at Washington has some sensible, well matured plan for intervening in the Cuban revolution and putting a stop to further bloodshed, destruction of property and starvation of the inhabitants. There has been scarcely a day within the past two years which has not demonstrated Spain's utter incapacity to deal with the insurrection in Cuba, and the time has come when humanity cries aloud that further slaughter shall cease.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR WEBSTER DAVIS has just rendered an important decision in the claim of Mark Sanford, late of Company B, 3d U. S. C. Louisiana, holding that in all cases where there had been an erroneous overpayment of pension money as a result of fraud upon the government, or through a mistake of fact, it may be recovered by withholding any accruing pension until the wrongful payment is made good. But when such erroneous payment was made by reason of an error of judgement upon the law and the facts, no reimbursement may be obtained by depriving the pensioner of money due him on a current pension.

BISHOP SAMUEL FALLOWS in a sermon at St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, Chicago, on Sunday, reviewing the increase of crime electrified his hearers by advocating a return to the primitive curfew and the lash. The reverend speaker stated that crime was rampant in Chicago because the newspapers so thoroughly report instances of evil doing, and the courts so signally fail in their duty; because the impression has gone out that gambling and all sorts of vice will be permitted to run wide open in Chicago. Poverty and want of employment, the large percentage of lower elements from foreign countries among the population, and the wide dispersion of the inhabitants were given as secondary causes for crime.

The Whole State's Stigma.

When they band themselves together into a mob to forestall the processes of law the citizens of Indiana are in no wise different from citizens who occasionally do the same thing in other states. The lynching of five men taken from jail in the county seat of Ripley county early yesterday morning tarnishes the fair name of this state with lasting stigma. Mob outrage more atrocious and unmitigated will be hard to find in the annals of this country.

The victims of the mob's tragic work had committed no unusual and horrifying crime calculated to kindle the public fury. They had taken no life. They had not assaulted the purity of womanhood. They were guilty of no transgression at all calculated to rouse an exaggerated public fear or sufficient to move the multitude with the seething passion of vengeance. There were in the circumstances of the arrest of those men none of the elements which we usually presume may stir the populace to ungovernable anger and hurry it on to inflict summary and extreme punishment.

The victims were thieves; of the worst sort perhaps. But enlightened peoples ceased many years ago to punish thievery upon the gibbet. The men of whom the mob at Versailles was made up committed cruel, deliberate, cold-blooded murder, and if apprehended, for such crime should they pay the penalty. Governor Mount has declared the outrage shall be sternly dealt with and all citizens of Indiana who love their state will wish all speed and fealty to the authority and the law.

TO THE survivors of the Eighty-eighth regiment and the Eleventh battery Fort Wayne extends a cordial welcome today. These men participated in some of the hardest and most bloody service of the late war and the regiments of which they are survivors were conspicuous in the gallant part borne by Indiana in the great conflict between the north and south. These men helped by their patriotism and valor to win the glorious renown that has been shed upon the deeds of Indiana's soldiers in the late war and their noble conduct should be kept ever fresh in the public mind.

NEVER were there two sticks of type thrown together that expressed a grander sentiment clothed in more beautiful language than the following from the pen of the late George D. Prentis, at one time editor of the Louisville Courier Journal. Said he: "It cannot be that earth is man's abiding place. It cannot be that our life is a bubble cast upon the ocean of eternity to float a moment upon its surface and then go into nothingness and darkness forever. Else why is it that the high and glorious aspirations which leap like angels from the temples of our hearts are forever wandering abroad unsatisfied? Why is it that the rainbow and the cloud come over with a beauty that is not of earth and then pass off and leave us to muse on the faded loveliness? Why is it that the stars which hold festival around the midnight throne are above the grasp of limited faculties forever mocking us with their unapproachable glory? And finally why is it that the bright forms of human beauty are presented to our view and then taken from us, leaving the thousand streams of affection to flow back in Alpine torrents upon our hearts? We are born for a higher destiny than that of earth. There is a realm where the stars will be spread out before us like the islands that slumber in the ocean, and where the beautiful beings that here pass before us like visions will stay in our presence forever."

THE OLD TWELFTH.

A Famous Indiana Regiment in Reunion at North Manchester.

The survivors of the famous Twelfth Indiana regiment are holding their annual reunion today at North Manchester and the ceremonies will not be concluded until tomorrow. The regiment went out in 1861, served the term of enlistment, was discharged and reorganized in August, 1862. The regimental officers were in part as follows: William H. Link, Fort Wayne, colonel; Reub Williams, Warsaw, lieutenant colonel; J. D. Bond, Fort Wayne, adjutant.

Nine days after the regiment was mustered into the service it went into battle at Richmond, Ky., under General Nelson. Colonel Link was killed and 20% of the regiment either killed or wounded, while the remainder were taken prisoners. They were paroled in a few days.

Company K was organized in and was made up largely of Fort Wayne and Allen county men. George Nelson was captain, John M. Godown, first lieutenant, and James O'Shaughnessy was second lieutenant. There are now resident in Allen county but three survivors of company K. They are John B. McGuire, Isaiah Coleman and S. W. Chase, and they have gone to the reunion.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.

The Oldest Lodge and the Oldest Odd Fellows.

History of Fort Wayne's Greatest Fraternity—News From Other Lodges of the City.

Fort Wayne lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F. is strong in more ways than one. It has a large membership and its finances are in first-class shape. It is now worth $35,000. The lodge in its early days owned two lots where the People's store now stands, which they sold, and bought on Court street, where the old postoffice building stands. In this location they stayed twenty-eight years and during the time of its occupation they bought a lot on Berry street, where the Nidel block now stands. This was a good investment, having cost them only $1,850 and selling it some time afterwards for $6,000. A few years ago the lodge purchased the lot at the corner of Calhoun and Wayne streets, paying for them $22,000. They erected the present magnificent block at a cost of $39,000 and the property as it stands today is worth considerably more than they paid for it. In fact, the lodge has refused an offer of $80,000 for it.

During the last twenty years No. 14 has paid sick benefits, donations, etc., amounting to $5,000 a year, and sick benefits alone will average $1,200 a year.

Among the oldest living members are Abraham Oppenheimer, Leopold Falk, Hiram Poyser, T. J. Rodabaugh, Don Falls, I. W. Campbell, L. T. Bourie, P. J. Wise, Anton Fisher, Elias Habecker and William Wadge, all of whom were initiated prior to 1860. Mr. Rodabaugh has been treasurer of the lodge for the last twenty-two years and D. L. Harding has been secretary for about ten years. Mr. Wise holds the distinction of being the only past grand master of the state in the city.

TWO OLDEST ODD FELLOWS.

In connection with a history of

GEORGE S. CARLL,
The Oldest Odd Fellow in Fort Wayne.

JAMES C. HEWES,
One of the Oldest Odd Fellows in Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 14, the oldest lodge, it is fitting to make honorable mention of two of Fort Wayne's oldest Odd Fellows and the oldest member, now living, of the lodge. These three gentlemen are all well known citizens. George S. Carll bears the distinction of being the oldest Odd Fellow, and James C. Hewes makes a close second, their identification with the order dating only one year and four months apart. The oldest member, now living, of Fort Wayne lodge is Philip Hartee.

George S. Carll of 432 South Lafayette street, was initiated into the degrees in Hope lodge No. 95, I. O. O. F., at Hope, Pa., on January 8, 1845. He passed through the chairs and was past noble grand of that lodge. In 1851 he deposited his card in Fort Wayne No. 14, having come here a year previous to that time. Mr. Carll is a cabinetmaker by trade and did his first work in this city for J. M. Miller, the pioneer furniture dealer. Later he became identified with Louis Peltier in the undertaking business. For many years he has been working for himself in the cabinetmaking business, in which he has been regarded as an artisan of unusual skill and originality, but for some time past enfeebled health has prevented much activity in this direction. For eighteen years, up to a recent time he was janitor of the lodge rooms at the corner of Calhoun and Berry streets.

PHILIP HARTEE,
The Oldest Living Member of Fort Wayne Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F.

JAMES C. HEWES.

The subject of this sketch has been a member of the fraternity for over fifty-one years. He was initiated into Montgomery lodge at Reading, Pa., May 7, 1846, and continued on the membership roll of that lodge until a few months ago, when he withdrew and united with Harmony lodge No. 19, in this city. Mr. Hewes bears the distinction of having been born in the Seven Star hotel, in the little town of Village Green, thirteen miles from Philadelphia, where the first Odd Fellows' lodge in the state of Pennsylvania was instituted. His father was a charter member of that lodge and the first meeting was held in his home, he being the landlord of the hotel. Mr. Hewes is seventy-six years old and as the reader is doubtless aware, is the foreman of the Pittsburg boiler shop in this city. He has worked for the Pennsylvania company ever since the early part of the year, 1854. He learned his trade, that of boilermaking, in Reading, and after completing his apprenticeship served in the same shop eleven years as a journeyman. Then he went to Altoona and assumed the assistant foremanship of the company's boiler shop in that place. Three years later he was transferred to Pittsburg and made foreman of the company's shops in that city. Two years later, in 1854, he came here in the same capacity and has filled his present office ever since.

I. O. O. F.

A number of Odd Fellows of the city are arranging to go to the meeting of the sovereign grand lodge to be held at Springfield, Ill., next Monday. In connection with the grand lodge sessions will be the national encampment of the Patriarchs Militant, of which there are two lodges in Fort Wayne. Dr. B. Gard, who is one of the number going, has the arrangements of the home delegation in hand.

Yesterday Bluffton Odd Fellows entertained a large number of their brethren from neighboring cities, besides a large number of the local order. The lodges of Fort Wayne, Huntington, Marion, Hartford City, Decatur, Montpelier, Pennville, Lima Grove, Petroleum, Mt. Zion, Geneva, Warren, Van Buren, Brown's Corners, Markle, Zanesville, Ossian and Portland were represented. A picnic was held in Camp Peter Studebaker and everyone, whether members of the lodge or not, were invited to be there early in the forenoon with their dinners. The exercises commenced at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon and at their conclusion the lodges paraded to the I. O. O. F. hall, where, in the evening, work was given in the initiatory degree by the Bluffton team, with exemplification of unwritten work by Grand Secretary W. H. Leedy. The Daughters of Rebekah entertained visiting sisters in the armory.

D. OF R.

The attendance at the last meeting of No. 2 Tuesday evening was entertained by a very interesting musical and literary program after the regular routine of business had been finished.

B. OF L. F.

Fort Wayne division No. 12, B. of L. F. will hold a very interesting meeting next Sunday, September 19. All members in the city are requested to be present. Come early and avoid the rush or you will not get a seat.

ST. JOSEPH'S SOCIETY.

At a meeting of St. Joseph's Benevolent society, last Sunday, Charles F. Graffe, who has been treasurer for the past twelve years, retired with a good record, and was succeeded by Frank H. Fink. This society distributed last year about $600 in benefits to its members.

THOMAS A. DAVIS,
Noble Grand of Fort Wayne Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F.

G. A. R.

The Woman's Relief corps of the counties of northwestern Indiana will hold a district convention at Lagrange September 30. Mrs. Brown, of Auburn, district president, will have charge. A joint campfire of the G. A. R. and corps represented will be held in the evening.

A. O. U. W.

No. 38 had but little business of interest to transact at the last meeting aside from balloting for candidates. Indications, however, point to a very prosperous winter term. The entertainment given at their hall the other evening was well attended and the program was first class.

There are, perhaps, one hundred different baking powders sold in this state.

ELKS.

Beginning with the first Tuesday in October the Elks will resume the rule of holding meetings every Tuesday night. During the summer meetings were held only once a month, as there is little to do during the hot weather. The Elks will have some lively times the coming winter.

DAUGHTERS OF WOODMEN.

This lodge had three initiations at the meeting last Tuesday evening, at which the floor work was exemplified in a manner that was impressive and beautiful, showing good team work. Committees are now at work to prepare a program for an entertainment and social to be given at their hall, on East Berry street, next Tuesday evening. The public is invited.

RED MEN.

Mechecunnochqua tribe had an interesting meeting last night, at which two members were given the hunters and three the warriors degree. Four applications for adoption were also acted upon and the applicants will be given that degree at the next meeting. An invitation to attend a pow-wow at Van Wert on September 23, was read and many of the members contemplate accepting.

FRATERNAL MYSTIC CIRCLE.

Fort Wayne Ruling No. 687, will give a cake social, with ice cream, music, recitations and specialties, at Harmony hall, No. 20 West Berry street, Thursday evening, September 23, at 8 o'clock. The Ruling was organized here about two months ago, by Special Supreme Deputy J. D. Grimes, who is doing nicely in the way of new members, having from ten to twelve candidates to initiate every meeting night. He will remain until after the social. The charter is still open.

C. K. OF A.

The members of St. Bernard branch will take up the important question of the publication of the Catholic Record, which, under a new regime, is being published at Washington, D. C. This paper was printed and edited in Fort Wayne during the period that W. S. O'Rourke held the office of treasurer, and it was then conceded to be a standard and reliable journal. Dr. Mudd, the present editor, will be called upon to materially change the plan of conducting the sheet or there will be "war."

B'NAI BRITH.

This Hebrew organization is one of the old and staunch lodges of the city, having been organized in April, 1865. The members are beginning to make active preparations for the entertainment of many visitors to Fort Wayne in May of next year, when the meeting of the grand lodge will be held here. Delegates will be present from all over the state. It was through the energy of the Fort Wayne delegation who went to Indianapolis last year that the state meeting was secured, and now that it is coming every member feels an interest in making it an occasion long to be remembered in the history of the state's lodges.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

The supreme lodge of Knights and Ladies of Honor, a national mutual benefit and protective organization, with a membership of 75,000, held its eleventh annual meeting at Detroit, with about 100 delegates present, a large number of them ladies. Supreme Protector S. B. Lockard, of Bradford, Pa., presided, and after the appointment of various committees for the transaction of routine business and the submission of reports, the visitors took a short excursion trip. C. W. Harvey, supreme secretary, says the hard times of the last two years have retarded the work of the order. During the past two years 1,900 of the members died, which necessitated the collection and disbursement in round numbers of $2,260,000. The Knights of Honor has a branch in this city.

MODERN WOODMEN.

Fort Wayne camp, No. 4,761, held a very interesting meeting last Friday evening, when several candidates were ushered from the forest and landed in the camp of the Woodmen. This camp has made a wonderful growth, notwithstanding the hard times. It was organized only a few months ago and now numbers fifty-four members, with quite a number of applications pending.

It was the good fortune of this camp to secure musical talent among its members. G. H. B. Freeby, manager of the First A. O. U. W. band, whose whole heart and soul is wrapt up in music and gifted with an overflow of it, has taken charge of the musical department and organized a quartet. He expects soon to have an orchestra perfected for the benefit of the camp. And with jovial M. R. Hardendorf at the head of the social part, this camp expects to be the banner one of the state before long.

Deputy F. Howenstein, who was instrumental in bringing the camp to the front, has labored hard and zealously, and to him much credit is due. This camp meets every Friday night in Odd Fellows hall, Berry street, and we extend a cordial invitation to all visiting neighbors to meet with us.

KILLED BY A GOAT.

Family Pet With Mulisome Instincts Murders the Old Master.

Owen McGochem was killed by his own billygoat, the pet of the family, and the murderer is roaming the hills surrounding Elizabeth, N. J., as if nothing had happened.

For more years than most Elizabeth people can remember the McGochems have lived in an old stone shanty in Bridge street, known locally as McGochem's Fort. The family consisted of father, mother child and goat.

Owen McGochem, who was getting on in years, had not been able to work for a long time by reason of varicose veins. When he tottered to the door of the cabin the other day, he and his wife and child had not eaten food for days. The goat, being a vagabond by nature and of predatory instincts, was better off.

What inspired the brute to maltreat his benefactor will never be known. Possibly its temper had been soured by the necessity of roaming far from the fort in search of food. However that may have been, it lowered its head and charged at the old man's legs, burying one horn in the midst of the varicose veins.

McGochem was taken as soon as possible to the Elizabeth General hospital, where he died toward evening from loss of blood. The Rev. Father Brady, when he visited the shanty, found Mrs. McGochem and her child in the last stages of starvation. He hastened to relieve their physical necessities before going to the hospital to minister to the spiritual needs of the injured man, and McGochem's life slipped away in the interval.—New York Journal.

HIDES BREED DISEASE.

The Secretary of Agriculture Will Investigate the Matter.

Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture has had submitted to him a communication from the secretary of the treasury relating to a recent outbreak of anthrax in Pennsylvania. This outbreak was attributed to the pollution of a stream into which flowed the refuse of a tannery in which infected hides, imported from Asia, were tanned. Several persons died after drinking water from this stream, and anthrax was given as the cause of death.

Of course the exclusion of infected foreign hides is a subject with which the treasury department alone has to deal, but the regulations for the disinfection of such hides before shipment to the United States were formulated in the first instance by the chief of the bureau of animal industry and recommended by the secretary of agriculture and adopted by the treasury department. The carrying out of these regulations is one of the duties of consular officers of the United States in foreign countries from which hides of neat cattle are exported to the United States.—New York Tribune.

An Overzealous Official.

H. T. Smart, a driver of a delivery wagon in Cincinnati, got into a most singular entanglement with the Humane society one day recently over the possession of his horse and wagon. The officer of the society was a little bit hasty. Mr. Smart left his horse standing on Sixth street while he went to dinner, and when he came back it was gone.

He thought it had been stolen and reported his loss to the police, who started a search for the horse. It developed that an officer of the Humane society had happened along and taken possession of the horse and wagon because somebody told him it had been standing there too long. An investigation showed that the horse had been standing on Sixth street but a short time.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

To Owners of Vehicles.

The city council having last night definitely decided the vehicle ordinance, I now propose to carry it out to its full intent and meaning. The ordinance provides that after the 15th day of September, 1897, double the amount of the license fee shall be collected and that after the 1st of October legal prosecutions may be instituted, but as there has been some doubt in the public mind for the last week in regard to this ordinance, I have decided to charge but the single fee, if licenses are taken out on or before Tuesday, the 21st day of this month. After that the full penalty will be charged. I shall see to it that every dollar taxes collected is spent for the keeping in repairs and taking care of improved public streets and I shall also demand that every police officer of the city assist me in carrying out this ordinance while it is a law. My office will be open every day until Tuesday, September 21, 1897, from 7 to 8 o'clock p. m.

The widow appeals to the sympathy of even the most callous hearted. Here is a woman still in the springtime of life, deprived of the stay and support upon which she had every right to depend, and her future overshadowed by the loss of the one man in all the world upon whom she had centered her love and affection. A man has no right to sacrifice his life in the mad race for money, by neglecting his bodily health. A man owes it to himself and to his wife and children to live a long and helpful life. If a man would live he must keep health.

Health is a matter of a little patch here and there. Look after the little ailments and the big ailments will take care of themselves. They will never come. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery keeps the body in perfect health. It promptly eradicates the little ailments that bring serious illness. If the serious malady has already arrived it promptly cures it by removing the cause. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It makes the assimilation of food perfect and supplies the blood with the life giving elements that build new and healthy tissue and firm muscles. It tones and builds up the nerves. It drives impurities and disease germs from every organ of the body. It cures all diseases due to overwork and worry and faulty nutrition. It is an unfailing remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, severe cough, bronchitis, asthma and kindred affections. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption.

Mr. Isaac E. Downs, of Spring Valley, Rockland Co., N. Y., writes: "For three years I had suffered from that terrible disease, consumption, and heart disease. Before taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I had wasted away to a skeleton; could not sleep nor rest, and many times wished to die to be out of my misery. Step by step, the signs and realities of returning health slowly but surely developed themselves. Today I tip the scales at 186, and am well and strong. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' has also cured my daughter of a very bad [illegible]."

The letter of withdrawal was sent yesterday afternoon to Judge John H. Stiness, chairman of the corporation committee appointed Sept. 1 to wait on Dr. Andrews that he withdraw his resignation.

It came as a great surprise to all classes in this city, as Dr. Andrews had distinctly informed the advisory and executive committees of the corporation at its meeting last Tuesday that he could not consent to remain here, the Cosmopolitan university scheme interfering to prevent it.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

A SIDE LIGHT ON THE GREAT GAME IN WALL STREET.

How the Bulls Got the Bears on the Run When St. Paul Got to Par—Exciting Scenes in the New York Stock Exchange.

The directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad declared the regular semiannual dividend of 2 per cent the other day and an extra dividend of 1 per cent. That's the cold fact about it, and the average newspaper reader probably won't see anything in that fact to get excited over, but if he'd been in Wall street, New York, about the time that the announcement was made he'd have thought that bedlam had broken loose and that all the little imps had fallen out of the bottom, and, dressed in district messenger and news bureau uniforms, were running for dear life to the Stock Exchange. These little imps, fleet of foot, were chased by bigger ones, some of them hatless, some of them coatless, all of them gasping.

Here is a little bunch of facts that will help to an understanding of the situation. St. Paul used to pay 5 per cent. dividends. St. Paul has always been a popular stock—that is, it was active in the market, and lots of people bought and sold it. Hard times brought St. Paul down to a 4 per cent basis. For two months the crop reports and reports of other business that goes to make up railroad dividends have been favorable enough to warrant a story that St. Paul would go back to a 5 per cent basis.

On the day preceding the meeting of the St. Paul directors to decide what the dividend would be St. Paul closed at 95½. When the Stock Exchange opened next morning, it sold at 95½. The St. Paul post in the Stock Exchange is on the west side of the floor. There were two crowds around there from the start. One was headed by men known in Wall street as St. Paul bulls. The other party was bearing the stock, and these opposing factions shouted at each other.

Every once in a while a man on each side wrote something on a little pad he carried in his hand, just as if his opponent had used some new slang word and he wanted to make a note of it. The St. Paul directors were to meet at 2 o'clock in the office of the company on the eighth floor of the Johnstone building. The Stock Exchange didn't have a monopoly of the excitement. The two concerns that supply news to Wall street and the brokers the moment it happens were having fits. They gathered together all the available messenger boys in the city. They had special telephone wires to the eighth floor of the Johnstone building and within four feet of the door of the meeting room, where they had reporters falling all over each other. They had already in their offices printed slips telling the news. There was one slip that said St. Paul had declared the regular dividend, another that said St. Paul had declared the regular and a half per cent extra, another that said the regular and a quarter per cent extra, another that said the regular and 1 per cent extra and others providing for every possible contingency. They were just held there to rest stocks waiting for the news to tell which stock was the right one.

Leaving the news the instant it happens bureaus, the reader can move to the eighth floor of the Johnstone building. There at 2 o'clock the corridor was jammed with brokers' clerks and others. They were the larger imps that later chased the little ones in uniform to Broad street. They were stationed there to find out exactly what St. Paul had done and dash off with the news to the Stock Exchange, where they could tell the brokers, who would tell their firms.

Inside the sanctum of the St. Paul company were the men who had the measure of excitement in their hands.

Now back to the Stock Exchange. The bulls and bears were still howling at each other and using sharp words. A shiver went down the backs of the bulls. A story started to the effect that St. Paul would not declare a dividend, but would postpone action until Sept. 18. The bears sprang at the bulls with it. They sold and sold St. Paul. The price dropped by eighths down to 95⅛, and still the bears plumped it into the bulls. The shiver of the bulls was momentary. They bought and, fighting tooth and nail the bears, saw the stock go up and up to 99⅞.

"A hundred for St. Paul!"

"Hooray!" shouted the crowd. "St. Paul a hundred!" But it didn't go all the same, for at the same time St. Paul was offered at 99⅞, and it's the lowest quotation that gets on the board.

One by one the directors came out. One by one they were pounced upon.

"St. Paul," they said, "has declared the regular dividend of 2 per cent and 1 per cent extra."

"Wow! Whoop!" howled the crowd of clerks and reporters and messengers, just why nobody can tell, for heaven knows they had no St. Paul, but they howled, and then they bolted. Down the stairways they went helter skelter. The lucky ones leaped into elevators, shouting "Down!"

Broad and New streets looked mad. The figures flew to the excited posts [illegible] and demanded, "Who's ahead?"

"The bulls," said somebody.

The head of this flying troop had hardly reached the street when "Big Pete" Hess [illegible] St. Paul [illegible] was placed and he had [illegible] if man was after him.

"I want 500 St. Paul at par!" he shouted. The board made for him. Then came the news over the tickers, then the flying messengers. "St. Paul 100," went upon the quotation board for the first time since 1893. "Hooray!" howled the crowd again, and they cheered and cheered and pounded each other on the back.—New York Sun.

THE WAWA GOLDFIELDS.

One Man Who Says That the Outlook Is as Good as In Klondike.

Cyrus Johnson, real estate dealer of Detroit, has no faith in the Lake Wawa goldfields. He said the other day that nothing but disappointment and suffering awaited the men who go to that region expecting to find gold in paying quantities.

"The talk about the new goldfields in that region," he said, "is not going to pan out. The district was exploited years ago, as some Detroiters know to their cost. In the early sixties my father did some prospecting, with the result that in 1866 he formed the North Shore Mineral Land company, with a capital of $200,000, of which 25 per cent was paid up. They dug a shaft 300 feet into the mountain of Green gap, near Lake Wawa, but the results were disastrous. They found plenty of iron, but it was of such poor quality that it was not worth mining. Father spent nearly $200,000 in this work, wasted his fortune and then died of disappointment."

Mr. Johnson is very bitter over these recollections of his father's lost money, but news of the gold hunters going from here pays the least attention to his warnings, and there are still inquiries being made of the transportation companies for tickets.

Joseph Dickerson of Port Arthur has what is usually considered the richest claim, and this is located over two miles from Wawa City. There are now perhaps 100 prospectors with claims in this region, and already have there arisen large disputes as to the priority of the find and dates of the claims being filed. Every day some prospector turns up specimens which assay $10 to the ton.

Claims have already been staked out as far as ten miles back of the town.—Baltimore Sun.

LEO LIKES OUR SNUFF.

The Great Pontiff Has Ordered a Large Installment From Baltimore.

Pope Leo XIII has ordered another installment of snuff from a Baltimore firm that has been supplying the Vatican. The manufacturers say it is the highest priced snuff made anywhere in the world. They say there is no direct profit in the sale of the goods. This is due to the fact that the snuff is manufactured from the pick of the finest Virginia and Kentucky leaf, and it is necessary to be careful that every vestige of stem is removed before the tobacco is powdered.

It has also to be flavored with a high priced extract, and it is packed in jars of a capacity of from one to five pounds especially manufactured for the purpose.

Each jar is placed in a leather case lined with chamois skin. The firm obtained its first order for the snuff through Cardinal Gibbons, and for this reason labeled it "Cardinal" snuff. In addition to the order from the Vatican they have had orders from individual priests in Rome, among them being the Rev. John P. Farrelly of the American college.—Washington Post.

LOVE BY TELEGRAPH.

Hope Worked the Wires, and Cupid Did the Rest.

Love and desire of Klondike gold are causing some queer happenings. One of them was the recent refusal of Charles Taggart of Chicago to proceed to Klondike until he had proposed marriage to a young woman of Illinois and been accepted.

Taggart arrived in Tacoma from Chicago with his father and four other men named Hamilton, cousins, Brown and Webster. All but Webster and young Taggart were married. The day after their arrival these young men of Chicago began talking of returning. The older Klondikers laughed at them.

Both boys remained in bad spirits for the next two days. Then there was a change in their demeanor, and when they embarked on the steamer City of Seattle for Skaguay that afternoon their faces were beaming with joy. They had proposed marriage by wire to their sweethearts in a suburb of Chicago, and their proposals had been accepted.—Chicago Tribune.

High Prices For Potatoes.

The advance in the price of potatoes has not yet been recorded in Sioux Falls, S. D., where the price is now only 25 cents per bushel. The crop in that part of the state is a big one, and when the advance comes the benefit to the growers will be large. Prospectors from McLean county, Ills., and Jackson county, Ia., say the price there is from 75 cents to $1 per bushel, and at the present freight rate to Chicago the price ought to advance at least 30 cents per bushel. A farmer from Lincoln county says he has 444 acres of potatoes which he thinks will yield 200 bushels per acre. This will give him close to 90,000 bushels of tubers from which he will make a fortune.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

FLYING FISHES.

Something About These Queer Dwellers in the Tropical Seas.

The flying fish loves deep water, and is found throughout the length and breadth of the tropical seas. He is fond of feeding near the gulf weed of the Sargasso, and deposits his stringy, glutinous spawn on its yellow branches. Vessels bound from New York to the Caribbee islands, upon reaching the "horse latitudes," sometimes encounter vast quantities of drifting weed, strong and stringy, with long caterpillar patches about the size of a pole apart.

Among the golden weed, with its delicate leaves and globular seeds, exists a curious family of cuttlefish, crabs, mollusks and small fishes. Upon these the flying fish preys, and they in turn devour its spawn. Every plunge of the steamer as she plows through the blue tropical waters frightens dozens of flying fish into the air, where they scatter in all directions, with the sunlight glistening on their gauzy wings.

The flying fish of the Atlantic attains a length of nearly one foot, and a breadth between wing tips of eleven inches. He has a round, compact body, about one inch in diameter near the pectoral fins or wings. There is also an auxiliary pair of ventral wings or fins, not nearly so large as the pectoral pair. The wings are formed by a thin, transparent membrane stretched over a delicate bony framework, and are either black, white or mottled with both. In flight he darts from the water to a height of twenty feet, and goes scudding rapidly with both wings and tail. He sails straight away for 1,000 feet or even more, occasionally touching the crest of a wave, and seeming to gain a new impetus by the contact.

WONDERFUL!

A Christian Physician Who Tries to Make Men Better in Body and Soul.

A Solicitor From Her Minister and Lawyer—Dr. N. B. Smith, No. 107 Calhoun Street.

It is doubtful if the columns of any newspaper in the state ever recorded a more wonderful restoration of health than that of Mrs. A. J. Augustine as a result of a medical treatment by Dr. N. B. Smith, of Fort Wayne. Her attorney informs us that he "considers it a miracle, as she certainly was considered in a hopeless condition mentally and physically."

We will give Mr. Augustine's statement just as he gave it to us:

"I have been married fifteen years and our home has been made happy by five children. My wife had enjoyed good health until about five years ago. She was taken then with an attack of rheumatism, which soon produced heart disease. I noticed that she was getting weaker and that her nervous system was very much broken down. I took her to the Hot Springs, in Arkansas, where we staid six months, but she got no better. We then returned home and again tried our family physician, but my wife got no better. She became very yellow and could neither eat or sleep. She said her existence was full of misery and prayed for death to relieve her of her sufferings. Dropsy now set in and she became almost completely helpless. Her mind began to fail and I was requested to send her to the insane asylum, but that I would not do. I could not find it in my heart to send her away when I believed that she would soon die. One of my friends induced me at this time to call on Dr. N. B. Smith, the eminent specialist of our city. I did so. After a careful examination of her he stated that he could cure her. I confess I had no confidence in any doctor, but decided to do anything for my wife that could be done. The doctor began his treatment and in a short time we all saw an improvement in my wife's condition. Her dropsy disappeared, her heart got better, her mind clearer and stronger, her appetite improved and she slept better. I now consider my wife perfectly well and she owes her life and health to Dr. Smith."

Mr. Augustine's statement is attested to by the following affidavits:

The Bluffton News says: "A woman is quoted as saying that some time ago in the absence of water, of which there was a great dearth at the time, she washed her face with the juice of a watermelon. The result was so soothing that she repeatedly washed her face in this manner and her astonishment was great a few days later on that there was not a freckle on her previously befreckled face. The price of watermelons is likely to go high upon this becoming generally known."

HUGH DOUGHERTY

Gives His Opinion as to the Future of Silver.

A Change in Our Financial System Along the Lines of Free Silver is Sure to Come.

The Hon. Hugh Dougherty, of Bluffton, a free silver banker and a man of high prominence in the state, gave his opinion as to the future of silver. He said that he did not affiliate much with bankers in general since taking his stand in behalf of silver. "The bankers look upon me as hardly respectable since then," said he. "The bankers, it is true, made their influence felt in behalf of the money power last fall and they did it by operating on the fears of business men. They made the business men believe that if free silver won the bankers could not give them credit and they would be crushed. Their influence was felt, and I believe that they will make it felt again, but the real truth is this country is coming to bimetallism, and it is coming to it in a short time. As soon as the business men learn that there is no truth in the representations of the bankers and that free coinage will bring its financial prosperity to them as well as to everybody else in the general stimulus of trade the hold of the bankers is gone. What is needed is a campaign of education, but let us not go to the farmers to educate them. They are right on the question now and don't need education. I say make the bankers take their medicine. A change in our financial system along the lines of free silver reform is bound to come and when it comes this country will be the most happy and prosperous on the globe."

GAS EXPLOSION.

A Slight Accident at the Power Station.

Ed Noble Covered With Soot and Ashes and His Face and Arms Slightly Burned.

A gas explosion which did considerable damage to one of the boilers and its steam pipes occurred in the power station of the street car company at 6 o'clock this morning. The explosion is somewhat of a mystery, but one of the men in the boiler room is of the opinion that it was occasioned by the gas going out for an instant and afterwards accumulating in the furnace and boiler flues and igniting from the heated iron. Edward Noble, the fireman, was in front of the furnace when the explosion took place. He was covered with soot and ashes and his left arm and face were slightly burned. The gas fire under the boilers at the electric works also went out at the same hour, but Engineer Carpenter discovered it and immediately closed the valve, thereby preventing, no doubt, a similar explosion.

BRAVE AND TRUE.

Are the "Boys" Who Today are Gathered in Reunion.

Eighty-Eighth Regiment and Eleventh Battery Hold Their Annual Meeting—Campfire Tonight.

Members of Indiana's noted organizations of old soldiers of the 88th Indiana regiment and the 11th Indiana battery, were drawn together in this city today for a twofold purpose. One was to pay reverence to the memory of their departed comrades at the soldiers' monument exercises, the other to meet in annual reunion for the transaction of business affairs, to greet one another with a fervent handshake and to participate in the festivities of such an occasion. To those not in the inner circle the full meaning of these reunions cannot be understood. It is for the heroes who offered their services and lives to protect their country's honor to appreciate the joys and sorrows of such a meeting, for there are both—joys for the achievements long since won, and sorrow for the sacrificed lives of beloved comrades.

EIGHTY-EIGHTH.

At these reunions this regiment always has a greater number of its survivors present than any other from the fact that as they originally were they still are peculiarly identified with this locality. Among the membership are some of the most substantial men of this community and the adjoining counties. The members assembled at the Arcade at 8 o'clock, immediately after which they attended the exercises at the monument in Northside park; thence to a substantial dinner, prepared by the Woman's Relief corps, at 28 Calhoun street, for the regiment and the 11th battery. At 1 o'clock the 88th members repaired to the city council chamber where the regular business program was carried out.

Adjutant Allan H. Dougall made the calls of the ten companies and received responses showing an attendance of nearly all survivors. He then read a summary of events which have transpired to interest the regiment since the last meeting. He reported five deaths as having occurred in the last year.

A pleasure not anticipated by many of the old soldiers was the appearance of Rev. W. S. Wilson, of Ludington, Mich., the old chaplain of the regiment. He gave a very interesting address on "Field and Staff."

The Eighty-eighth Indiana volunteers was organized at Camp Allen, in this city, August 21, 1862, and was mustered into the United States service August 29, 1862, with George Humphrey, colonel, and Hartman B. DuBarry, adjutant, and after the battle of Chickamauga Cyrus E. Briant succeeded as colonel and latterly Allan H. Dougall as adjutant.

The entire enrollment of the regiment was 1,093 and at the last reunion there were 532 survivors. During the year five more are reported to have died.

The casualties during the war were thirty-eight killed in action, eleven missing in action, 173 died in the service, a total loss of 222 during the service.

Dr. James S. Gregg was surgeon, Rev. Wm. S. Wilson chaplain and Ira Rupert quartermaster.

The ten companies were organized as follows:

Company A, of Waterloo, Ind., elected officers August 11th, 1862, with Janson B. Beers captain. This was afterwards known as Captain E. B. Cutler's company and had a total of 112 men.

Company B, of Ligonier, Ind., elected officers August 11th, 1862, with William N. Voris captain, and had a total of 109 men.

Company C, of Fort Wayne, Ind., elected officers August 7, 1862, with Nelson P. Guffey captain. It was afterwards known as Captain W. C. Hollopeter's company, and had a total of 94 men.

Company D, of New Haven, Ind., elected officers August 11, 1862, with Cyrus E. Briant captain. It was afterwards known as Captain Scott Swann's company, and had a total of 113 men.

Company E, of Fort Wayne, Ind., elected officers August 11, 1862, with Chauncey B. Oakley captain. It was afterwards known as Captain A. C. Brown's company, and had a total of 89 men.

Company F, of Fort Wayne, Ind., elected officers August 16, 1862, with Isaac H. LeFevre captain. It was afterwards known as Captain Fred F. Boltz's company, and had a total of 116 men.

Company G, of Lagrange, Ind., elected officers August 11, 1862, with Joseph R. Webster captain. It was afterwards known as Captain William D. Wildman's company, and had a total of 111 men.

Company H, of Newville, Ind., elected officers August 13, 1862, with Lewis J. Blair captain. It was afterwards known as Captain D. L. Thomas's company, and had a total of 121 men.

Company I, of Middlebury, Ind., elected officers August 5, 1862, with Harmon L. Fassett captain, and had a total of 106 men.

Company K, of Columbia City, elected officers August 12, 1862, with George W. Stough captain. It was afterwards known as Captain David Hanshberger's company, and had a total of 102 men.

Forty days after muster in and even before the boys knew the right foot from the left, they were called on to do battle. Their baptism of blood was at Perryville, Ky., Oct. 8, 1862, where several from their ranks were killed. The conduct of the regiment forty days after leaving their native state caused them to be enrolled at once along with the veteran regiments of over a year's service, and from this time till the close of the war their duty was always on the front line. They had no detail duty, no detached duty was theirs, but always at the front and in the front line, so that upon their return home June 15, 1865, under command of C. E. Briant as colonel, and Allan H. Dougall as adjutant, they brought back the flag presented by the ladies of this city at the time of their departure and had emblazoned on it the names of as many, if not more battles and skirmishes than any of the other regiments sent to the fields from this congressional district. Among them are the following: Perryville, Ky., Stone River, Elk River, Tullahoma, Dug Gap, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, White Cap Ridge, Tunnel Hill, Buzzard Roost, Resaca, Dallas, Kenesaw, Peach Tree Creek, Utoy Creek, Jonesboro, Atlanta, Gaylesville, the March to the Sea, Savannah, Averysboro, Bentonville, Raleigh, surrender of Johnson. From thence they marched through Richmond, Va., to Washington and took part in the grand review May 24, 1865. They then came home, having marched more than 3,000 miles through the center of the southern confederacy.

ELEVENTH BATTERY.

Fort Wayne travelers who may chance to visit Atlanta, a now beautiful city, may recall the interesting fact that to the Eleventh battery fell the sad duty of throwing 1,010 shells into the midst of that famous city. It was a sad necessity, but a real one. The survivors of the gallant Eleventh are assembled in Fort Wayne today in reunion. With the Eighty-eighth regiment the survivors marched to the soldiers' monument and witnessed the ceremonies. After dinner the battery took Robison park cars, where the business meeting was held in the pavilion. The officers present today were as follows: Lieutenant John Otto, who is also president and presided at the business session; Lieutenant Henry M. Williams, Lieutenant John H. Jacobs, and John McKinley. William Glenn, city councilman, is the secretary, and Henry Zollinger the treasurer. Both officers read interesting reports of the happenings in the organization since the reunion last year.

During September, 1861, a number of the most loyal and best citizens of Fort Wayne, prevailed upon Arnold Sutermeister, now residing at Kansas City, to organize a field artillery, pledging their moral and financial aid. The country in and around Fort Wayne had already contributed a large number of men and it was no easy task to perfect such an organization, but success finally rewarded their efforts and the Eleventh went to the field and took part in many of the most important battles and was foremost among the brave men in blue.
